It is essential for Stahl to conduct business with the highest level of integrity in all our interactions. In an ever-changing commercial, regulatory and compliance environment, we strive to ensure that we conduct business in the most appropriate, ethical and transparent way. This statement sets out the steps taken by Stahl to mitigate and eradicate the risk of Modern Slavery and human trafficking in its supply chain. This statement is prepared as per section 54 of the UK Modern Slavery Act 2015.

What is Modern Slavery?
Modern Slavery means any form of forced labor, prison labor, indentured labor, bonded labor, debt servitude, state imposed forced labor and human trafficking, where coercion, threats or deception are used to intimidate, penalize or deceive workers, thereby creating situations of involuntary work and exploitation. Modern Slavery is also associated with (the worst) forms of child labor.

“No one shall be held in slavery or servitude; slavery and the slave trade shall be prohibited in all their forms”

Stahl’s position and policies on Modern Slavery
Stahl’s Position
Modern slavery, or any form of forced or compulsory labor, is a violation of human rights. Stahl takes a strong stance against any form of modern slavery. Stahl condemns modern slavery and child labour, and shall not participate in the trafficking, recruitment, or receipt of any persons, by means of threat or abuse of power. Stahl allows employees to resign from their position at any time if they are forced in such a situation. By behaving ethically and honestly with all its partners, Stahl is committed to ensuring that modern slavery does not occur elsewhere and it strives only to do business with organizations that uphold similar principles.

Stahl’s policies
Stahl is committed to the guiding principles of UN Global Compact, the world’s largest corporate sustainability initiative, and reports on these principles annually. With this commitment, Stahl confirms the alignment of its strategy and operations to the universal principles of human rights, labor, environment and anti-corruption. Stahl’s activities are also aligned with the 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDG’s) announced at the UN General Assembly in 2015, and reports on progress in its annual ESG Report.
UN Global Compact’s Ten Principles
Stahl is committed to the UN Global Compact’s Ten Principles and strives to conduct its business with the highest standards of integrity and ethical behavior. This means operating in ways that, at a minimum, meet fundamental responsibilities in the areas of human rights, labor, environment and anti-corruption.

The Ten Principles are:
- Principle 1: Businesses should support and respect the protection of internationally proclaimed human rights
- Principle 2: Make sure that they are not complicit in human rights abuses
- Principle 3: Businesses should uphold the freedom of association and the effective recognition of the right to collective bargaining
- Principle 4: The elimination of all forms of forced and compulsory labor
- Principle 5: The effective abolition of child labor
- Principle 6: The elimination of discrimination in respect of employment and occupation
- Principle 7: Businesses should support a precautionary approach to environmental challenges
- Principle 8: Undertake initiatives to promote greater environmental responsibility
- Principle 9: Encourage the development and diffusion of environmentally friendly technologies
- Principle 10: Businesses should work against corruption in all its forms, including extortion and bribery

Based on these Ten Principles, we implemented our Corporate Responsibility & Sustainability policies, among which the Stahl Human Rights Policy and the Stahl Code of Conducts for employees and business partners.

a) Stahl Human Rights Policy
In 2021 Stahl implemented a specific Human rights policy, which includes modern slavery.

b) Stahl Employee Code of Conduct
Stahl’s Employee Code of Conduct and whistleblower rules reflect these high standards of integrity and ethical behavior. The Code of Conduct and the whistleblower rules apply to all its employees. Every new employee needs to sign this Code of Conduct and whistleblower rules. Stahl specifically mentions Modern Slavery in its Employee Code of Conduct.

to ensure a high level of understanding of the risks of modern slavery and to give guidance on behavior, Stahl trains all employees on its Code of Conduct.

c) Stahl Business Partner Code of Conduct
It is mandatory for business partners (selected with a risk-based approach) to agree and sign the Stahl Business Partner Code of Conduct or, if the business partner has its own Code of Conduct, to provide a copy which Stahl validates. In the unfortunate event that the business partner does not comply with the Code of Conduct, immediate action is taken, including, if necessary, (immediate) discontinuation of the business relationship with such business partner. Stahl included specific wording on Modern Slavery in its Business Partner Code of Conduct.

Due Diligence Processes
In order to ensure that Modern Slavery is absent from its business activities, Stahl implemented the following due diligence procedure.

Business Partner Due Diligence procedure
Stahl implemented a Business Partner Due Diligence procedure for relevant business partners (selection on a risk-based approach). With this Business Partner Due Diligence Procedure the compliance-relevant behavior and the integrity of the (potential) business partner of Stahl is monitored. This procedure will assist our employees in establishing and maintaining a commercial relationship with reliable and ethical business partners.

Stahl Compliance Report (Codes of Conduct)
Each year, the management team, local managers and site managers complete a Code of Conduct compliance questionnaire about the Code of Conduct with respect to employees and business partners. We refer to the Stahl Compliance Report as published on the Stahl website.

Supplier assessment
In 2019 Stahl began due diligence on the Code of Conduct by assessing selected suppliers. The scope of this due diligence process was amplified significantly in 2020 with the implementation of the EcoVadis supplier ratings system, which is already used throughout much of the chemical industry supply chain. The EcoVadis assessment is a thorough CSR assessment that covers Environment, Labour & Human Rights, Ethics and Sustainable Procurement, and will amplify the understanding of the wider sustainability performance of our suppliers. The existing Business Partner Code of Conduct and Business Partner Due Diligence procedures complement the EcoVadis system. Already in 2020, 66% of Stahl's total direct purchasing spend is covered by EcoVadis Supplier Assessment ratings.

Stahl continuously improves, develop and strengthens its efforts to promote the UN Global Compact’s Ten Principles, and this includes the elimination of all forms of forced and compulsory labor.

This statement constitutes the Stahl Statement on Modern Slavery for the financial year ending 31 December 2020. This statement has been approved by the Board of Directors of Stahl Parent B.V.
